

The Psycho in Me

He's the one who enforces "do no wrong", the guiding premise in our Life. He's the navigator in extreme situations when there is no time for thinking. He's hailed as big O, the Outlaw in the multiple personality INorder "Chariot" ride.

When it comes down to the Bottom Line he's the boss. He's the perfect boss. Not to say we're perfect, he doesn't sway to personal preference, he guides as all information available would dictate correct. That's his would be perfection, which is subject to the rest of our input that is variously human, not perfect.

Though our input may not be perfect, overall it has made improvements over the years. We are humane, he is mankind. "Do no wrong" has been our rule for a long time. Our input, the parameters have been continuously improved with the insight of the various point of views. For example, a long time ago a person was face-planted into asphalt and then used for a field goal attempt for breaking a $5 pane of glass. The improved point was made in dictating wrong for wrong should balance, overzealous correction of a wrong is wrong.

Ruthless is what he is, it was developed well as a child of 12 years who sold the cute and adorable real live Easter bunnies during season and butchered about 25 of them every weekend the rest of the year. Do the job, no sentiments.

With our multiple points of viewing, we see how one with a DIS in their order function could become a monster. Being crazy is alright if you keep things IN order, Life is #1. Life drives the Psycho, the man kind of animal with a DIS order can DISregard that fact.

Us? We are the Love of Life and Intellect, and then there's Negatator Bug an infiltrator from Society, and of course big O, all IN order thank you.

I'm sure there are those who lack the adventurous nature required to explore alternative view points within oneself who would say I'm crazy or making up characters. We are real and recognizing the different aspects of our self has developed an extraordinarily flexible point of view. We can put it anywhere, even to "see ourselves as others see", the gift that be the reason for explaining the Psycho.

We know he comes off like an arrogant know-it-all at, but there's no taming the guy, he's being true and doing no wrong. He does the job, no sentiments.

Thank you Doc.

Hi there, I'm dFeral Love and I'm going to introduce the star of our show, Dunorong Fugdelau. Let's have a big round of applause for the big O. Yay! Yippee! Yahoo!

Now hear this! Listen up Earth people! This is IT, the revelation, the revolution, evolution and the rapture and the transcending key all come together here and now in the time for a change in the way of mankind.

Listen again! The way of mankind, I'm not trying to tell you how to live your life. I'm talking about stopping the decline of the value of Life in the way of Society. I'm not talking about band-aids for your boo-boos; there is a cancer at the core.

O! You know it does no good yelling at the people or trying to scare them.

Ya, I know, they're already running scared.

Well, that's good sense to be scared of you, ANIMAL!

Gentlemen, please? We're exposing ourselves so that we may have an intelligent discussion of the subject at hand with-out personal attacks.

Watch your words Doc, he'll be shaking it at them.

And the subject at hand is?

Teaching the world a single word. One word, the same spoken verb to cross the barriers of language with a “commonly” understood meaning.

Which will change the “direction” of Society and turn the world into Paradise.

Yea!

It cannot be done. It won't work.

Bug OFF.

The only problem I see in the mechanics would be where languages have different alphabets or characters. The word needs to be visually recognized and spoken, “commonly”.

That's the key, my word BLitTeR!

Yes, be quiet. As we know after almost four years of investing every available minute and penny in the cause, the mechanics will be the easy thing to overcome.

Coke and Marlboro are there, pedaling poison.

It ought to be easy giving away Paradise.

If we had it in a package to give away there would be no problem. All we have is a plan to bring about a Change, the big scary Change.

Scary hell! Look at the way of the world now!

The view of the world that bothers you is one that most people won't acknowledge. The people we have to deal with are comfortable and secure in their personal world, the bad things going on could be resolved with their personal wisdom.

Yea, right! If the Muslims would just listen to the Christians.

And the Christians would listen to the Jews.

Listen to me! You guys are nuts. “They say” everything is getting better. There's nothing you can do. Have faith in “them”.

Bug OFF.

Ditto.

Yea.

Personal wisdom is backed up in Society with “common” agreement. Many or few may have “common” knowledge of a particular thing. The power of “common” agreement is evident throughout Society. All the way from national pride, through social club elitism to the level of partners in crime “common”, is power and security.

Wow! And I thought being a common man was square.

You are obtuse.

“Common” knowledge does not like Change. Personal wisdom challenged by something other will automatically overrule it. That's why when we tell people that band-aids won't fix the world; we get labeled as some kind of nut.

You are nuts. If you want to live in Paradise you have to Die!

Get outta here!

The power of “common” throughout the mind of mankind will birth the new way. It begins with one word to be “commonly” understood.

And if you ain't helping us make it happen you ought to be ashamed of yourself.

Ya.

Don't listen to these guys. They're crazy!

BLitTeR – “acknowledge the Feeling”