

r u ready

I am a philosopher, taught throughout and by Life the greatest teacher. I have studied the workings of Life with serious intent from diverse points of view for over thirty years. I have come to an understanding that many people seek and many have in part. The knowledge that I have I want to share.

The first thing I want to say is about is the connection between words and understanding. I use words to guide you to an understanding. Words are pointers, aimed at understanding. Point of view and preconceptions are common distortions that create misunderstanding. Understanding is of the truth, it is never wrong, and then comes the word. Please allow that I might have used a wrong word in some place and don't discount me totally because of it.

I have an understanding of Society, clear and complete, the big picture, the total of Human interaction with the Earth. I can guide you to this understanding, we can spread it around and we will make the world a better place.

The understanding that I'm trying to explain is all about the Yin/Yang, the force or the will of God and that we have the ability as the Human to effect a change. By recognizing whatever you call that special Feeling OF perfection, the Feeling OF Love or Bliss that is beyond the physical and is OF the "perfect balance", with a "common" physical reference we can bring about that change.

Each and every one of us understands and defines the Feeling differently because of the "direction" of Society; it is the force coming FROM God.

The "direction" of Society

It is FROM God, in the beginning came light, the light of creation. Creation is the action coming FROM God. Do you think God just tossed creation out into the vastness of pre-existence with no reason or aim, no "direction"?

Pre-existence is my concept of "nothing" absolute, even before space. OF this "nothing" there is the Aware force we call "God".

Pre-existence Awareness directed force FROM "nothing" towards ? something ? Creation!!!, the physical world, including everything we include in infinity, comes FROM God.

And then came Life. Awareness OF "nothing", created something and "directed" it to interact in the forms we call life. Mankind is the most advanced of these forms, created and "directed" to interact in the physical world. Beings OF God are a small version of creator, we do our individual lives with personal force directed at physical creation, the common creation "real world" that we know is "directed" by Society.

The "direction" of Society is the force of creation FROM God coming into the physical world through the individuals.

My understanding of God is quite flexible, this is a stretching exercise.

IS HE OR IS HE NOT

God – no such animal, does not exist

Exactly correct.

All that does not exist is the body of God. This includes all of outer space as well as the space between the particles of a molecule on the end of your nose.

The mind of God is awareness, beyond that of the physical animal.

All of the stuff that does not exist has a flowing force that is controlled by Awareness.

We are points of reference within Awareness.

The effect of retribution is an example of it, God, the flowing force guided by points of awareness. As ye sow so shall ye reap is the big picture rule.

With retribution as an example it is obvious that the effect is controllable at the individual level.

Prayers are answered is a more favorable example of the effect being controlled.

God is effectively controlled by our awareness.

Be Aware.

BS! God Is.

Absolutely.

You know how light, what we call white light, is made up of all the different colors.

If you turn that around and imagine every little piece of creation is a color, then God is light.

The flowing force of God creates everything, everything goes back to God, the infinite circle is complete and nothing will change that. That doesn't mean we can't change, now that we have established Society's "direction" we can work on it.

The "direction" of Society manifests as the rules of the "real world", the necessary coordination of individuals for a "common" creation.

Rebels and revolutionaries have known forever that "rule" is an oppressor; it causes things to be done that are not right. They have fought and defeated it and in the end found the battle was really over possession of it. They haven't understood it as "direction", an undeniable force that only needs a slight change.

I'm talking about the flow of all Life on Earth being guided by the concept of "rule" into the physical world of creation. A tiny shift is all we need to change "direction", a shift as small as the difference between FROM and OF.

Is That Right?

Who SAYS so? By what authority do you speak? What doctrine supports your claim? You as an authority, represent what established line of thought?

You think! That's not good enough. You cannot just "know" something is Right, it is not allowed.

Rule is the god of Society. It was born at the dawn of civilization, It had only the power that the individual would give to It. Mankind did what they freely thought was Right, we were not pious subjects. As the individuals learned to agree on what Right was, Rule grew with the power of being “common”. It has grown to be a tyrant that controls every facet of Society. Rule determines what is Right, here and now intelligence is overruled.

This is why we cannot overcome the problems in our world. Common sense is overruled by something previously determined in a “similar” situation to be Right. Not only does the minor difference in “similar” cause errors but Rule is indifferent to new circumstances.

The Inquisition and Nazis are examples of the power and the level of error in Rule; they were doing Right from their point of view and by their interpretation of Rule.

Everything bad gets its power from Rule; bad is other than what here and now intelligence would dictate. (In this line of thinking, here and now intelligence is of Life. Therefore Life is the ultimate concern and abuse in any form would not be intelligent.)

Throughout history mankind has become increasingly subjected to Rule as Its strength grows from the “common” mind of the Human.

The strength of Rule in the Human mind does not allow credibility to anything that is not previously “common”, here and now intelligence has no authority. Mankind’s communication with God (accessing a higher intelligence) is not credible, it is overruled. This is the root of every problem in the world.

A couple of normally intelligent people can come up with a solution to fix any problem in the world. The solution is not allowed because the problem is established and maintained by Rule. Look at starvation, there is plenty of food on the Earth. We have the ways and means to distribute it, and there are children dying every day from malnutrition. Giving them food is in the hands of Rule. Rule says obtaining the objective of war excuses the murder of innocent people.

Rule does not have here and now intelligence and we are Its subjects. We cannot escape from or deny Rule, Society exists by Rule. We can give It the here and now intelligence.

In the Human mind, at the “common” place that gives power to Rule, we can make a “common” reference to what is truly Right, the “perfect balance”. By making the Feeling that is other than the physical “common” physical knowledge we will give Rule access to knowledge of other than the physical world, here and now intelligence.